Dayton Host To National Aerial Show

New Techniques Are Demonstrated First Time by Air Force

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A prolonged sonic "boom" and a series of first showings to the public of new airplanes and new aerial techniques were on tap today for the opening of the National Aircraft Show, major event of its kind for the year.

The opening day program also was to include the finish, about 1 p. m EST, of the jet Bendix Trophy Race from California.

Eight jet aces of the Korean War were to dive their F86 Sabre jets through the speed of sound, over the airport, at the opening of the Air Force part of the show each day. Each plane would cause a "boom" or ground explosion on exceeding the speed of sound and on returning to sub-sonic speed, thus producing 16 sonics booms for the group.

These "firsts" were scheduled:

1 The first public launching of a Republic F84 fighter from a Convlar RB36 mother airplane, and the first midair hookup of the two planes

2. The first public refueling of a Boeing B47 by a tanker KB47, and the first similar refueling of an F84 by a KB47. A similar demonstration by the Navy of the refueling of a jet fighter from a AJ1 Savage twin-engine tanker.

3. The first performance in public of the Bell X5 experimental plane, which can sweep its wings back sharply in flight, the first public showing of the Martin B57, U. S. version of the British Canberra, in flight, and the first demonstration by the Martin XB51 three-jet bomber of a series of fighter-like rolls.

The show also will include the first public performance of the Air Force Thunderbirds, a jet fighter precision team; the first public showing of B47 use of jet-assisted take off and of drag - parachute landings.

The show was preceded last night by the world-premiere of a motion picture, "Sabre Jet," depicting problems of the wives of F86 pilots during the early days of the Korean War.

DEAN: ARRIVING IN RED JEEP, AND PASSING "FREEDOM GATE." Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, the Korean war's highest ranking prisoner, rides into Panmunjom (left) in a Communist Jeep and (right) grins as he looks about him after passing through the "Gate to Freedom." He wears a Communist-issued blue POW uniform Dean, 54, missing at the fall of Taejon in July, 1950, wandered around enemy-held territory 34 days before the Reds caught up with him.

Large Group Of 275 Sent Back Today

Tomorrow's 'Bonus' Delivery Will Boost Total Freed to 3,596

PANMUNJOM (AP) — A whopping 275 Americans streamed back to freedom today and the Communists promised to return another 110 tomorrow, the 33rd and final day of the big Korean War Prisoner exchange.

The second and last Communist "bonus" delivery will boost the number of Americans repatriated to 3,596—283 more than the Communists first promised to send back.

Both Sides to Wind Up

Both sides announced today they would complete the exchange tomorrow

The final delivery probaly includes a small group of American Air Force and Marine pilots whom the Communists said "confessed" germ warfare charges.

The Allies said they would turn back on the last day 137 Chinese and 2,255 North Koreans, boosting the total repatriated to 75,797—many more than the 74,000 the U. N. Command first promised to return.

The Communists also promised to release Sunday 1 South African, 8 British, 4 Turks, and 8 Japanese.

Within 10 of Total

This will raise to 12,753 the number of Allied POWs returned, 10 short of the 12,763 the Communists said they would liberate.

But the Reds have since said more than 20 non-Korean and 300 Korean prisoners refused repatriation and will be turned over to the neutral nations repatriation commission for disposition.

Both sides said the final figures would include all prisoners who want to return, including any who had changed their mind at the last minute.

While the Reds held back until last the airmen they charged spread bacteria over North Korea, the U. N. Command was doing the same with the leaders of the bloody Kojie Island POW camp riots.

May Include Riot Leaders

The U. N. Command would not confirm it officially, but Sunday's delivery presumably will include the riot leaders, including North Korean Col. Lee Hak Koom.

The Communists' most famous prisoner, Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, three years of Red captivity behind him, arrived in Tokyo Saturday on the first lap of the happy trip home Freed Friday, Dean was sent to Tokyo Army Hospital for a physical checkup. He said he had no idea how long he will stay in Japan.

The contingent of 275 Americans returned Saturday was by far the

Southerners Find Fine Print

Agriculture Department Backs Up on Race Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department, in the face of a storm of Southern protest, has backed away from its requirement that banks which make farm price support loans promise not to practice racial discrimination in employing personnel

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John H. Davis, who is president of the Commodity Credit Corporation, said last night the non discrimination clause no longer would be required. He said the decision was made on "a question of fact"—that employment was not involved, since lending agencies generally handled the loans without increasing their staffs.

Began in May

The acrimony over the non-discrimination clause began only recently when Southerners discovered it has been contained in all lending agency agreements since May.

Secretary Benson said in South Carolina earlier this week that he regarded the clause as "unnecessary."

But Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said that if the President allowed the non-discrimination clause to be dropped "he might as well disband immediately the government Contract Compliance Committee." This group was set up recently to check on observance of non-discrimination by government contractors.

Optional With Banks

Davis called in reporters late yesterday and gave them a statement announcing it will be entirely optional with banks whether they sign the anti-discrimination pledge.

"They can scratch it out and we'll accept the contract," he said

Davis said he presumed some Southern banks already have signed the pledge—perhaps without reading the fine print. He was asked whether they could exchange their contracts for another without the clause.

"We'll have to study that out

Italy Counters Blast From Tito In Paper War

Diplomatic Protests Piling Up as Dispute Over Trieste Continues

ROME (AP)—Tension mounted on both sides of the Italian-Yugoslav border today as the two nations glared at each other across a pile of diplomatic protests involving the bitter Trieste dispute.

Belgrade threatened yesterday—in its fourth protest in three days—to rush its own tough troops to the Italian border unless Italy halted "provocative" maneuvers there.

Italy Takes "Precautions"

Rome replied last night that Italian forces had taken only "precautionary and protective measures." The Italian note, however, did not describe these measures.

With the final word thus far in the seven-day flareup of the old quarrel, Italy scoffed at Yugoslavia's "pretended frontier incidents" Rome said even if the incidents were true they seemed "of very modest nature" for so much hullabaloo.

On the other hand, declared the Italian Foreign Ministry, it has heard nothing from Belgrade to dispel Italy's fears that Yugoslavia plans to annex the Yugoslavs' occupation zone of Trieste by force

Now Internationalized

The Adriatic frontier region, long disputed between Italy and Yugoslavia is now an international free territory divided into two zones pending a settlement of its future British and U. S. troops occupy one section, including the port, and Yugoslavia administers the other

Exchanges between Italy and Yugoslavia over the issue have grown more bitter in the last few days despite expressions of confidence by leaders of both countries that the new flareup would not lead to anything critical Western diplomats have urged a policy of calm

Yugoslavia charged this week that Italian engineers were digging trenches and building pillboxes along the border and Italian tanks were massing at Goritza. The town is not far across the frontier from the Yugoslav village of Okrajaglica where Yugoslav President Tito will make a major speech Sunday.

Italian fears that Tito would use the occasion to announce annexation of the Yugoslav-controlled zone of Trieste touched off the latest angry controversy.

Belgrade Note

Belgrade's note threatening to move its own troops to the border declared:

"If the Yugoslav government establishes that the Italian government continued to adhere to an abnormal situation on the border, it will be forced to undertake corresponding measures on its own territory."

Rome replied this would place upon Yugoslavia "full and exclusive responsibility in case of adoption of any such eventual measures."

Bendix Flier's Jet Out of Fuel At Finish Line

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Capt James Carson of El Centro, Calif, No. 5 starter in the Bendix Trophy Race, approached the finish line with empty fuel tanks today.

Carson's F86F Sabre Jet "flamed out" at about 40,000 feet, 100 miles short of his goal.

The pilot radioed that he thought he could make a dead-stick glide over the home pylon and then land either here or at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base nearby.

Carson came over the field "dead-stick" slowly, then punched the button" again and the engine restarted with the slight amount of fuel remaining.

Carson landed safely at Wright-Patterson Field.

The first five to leave the start line at Edwards Air Force Base,

Opening Bars At NCO Clubs Stirs Protests

New Army, Air Force Regulations Covering Hard Liquor Sale Hit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some liquor industry spokesmen joined voices today with temperance advocates in condemning new Army and Air Force regulations allowing hard drinks to be sold to commissioned and non-commissioned officers on military posts.

There were expressions of concern from members of Congress too, along with one of approval. But other lawmakers, asking not to be quoted by name, expressed the hope that the furore would die down before Congress reconvenes in January Said one.

Difficult Position

'Anything you say publicly on this is wrong."

The Army and Air Force announced yesterday sales of liquor by the drink or bottle will be permitted to persons over 21 at bars and lounges operated by officers' and non-commissioned officers' clubs at posts in the United States and its possessions. Such clubs, while on government property, are not government enterprises. They are run by their members under service regulations.

Dealers Protest

Hammers Schumberg, Washington representative of the National Retail Liquor Package Stores Association, said the new policy was "legally, morally and ethically wrong." Schumberg went on to say in a statement:

"This is completely contrary to

Thin but Healthy

Dean Relaxes in Tokyo Hospital, Gets Checkup

TOKYO (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, liberated yesterday after more than three years in Communist prisons, checked in at Tokyo Army Hospital today for rest and a physical examination before heading home.

Doctors described Dean's appetite as "amazing"

He has scheduled his second news conference for Sunday in the hospital auditorium.

Flies From Korea

The thin but apparently healthy former commander of the U. S 24th Division flew here this morning from Korea after inspecting an honor guard at 8th Army headquarters in Seoul.

Before boarding a B17 for the five-hour flight to Japan, Dean drove through the streets of South Korea's capital smiling and waving to thousands of Koreans who turned out to cheer him.

At the airbase near Seoul, Dean wept as he said farewell to Gen Maxwell D Taylor, 8th Army commander, and other officers and representatives of the Republic of Korea where he was military governor during the occupation.

As he started to board the plane, Dean looked at a group of small Korean girls who had presented him with bouquets of flowers and said, "taitanhi komapsupmida," Korean for "thank you very much."

Accompany General

With Dean on the flight to Japan were two other repatriated veterans of the 24th Division, M Sgt. Joseph Tupa of Honolulu, and Sgt. Alden Cook of Bluefield, W. Va

At the airport to see him off was Col Charles R. Rain, of Salem, N J, the former executive officer of one regiment in the 24th Division when Dean was commander.

Dean joked with Rain and nudged him in the ribs several times.

Rain told Dean today was his birthday and Dean remarked:

"I'm enjoying it a hell of a lot more than you are"

The 54-year-old soldier, who won the Medal of Honor for heroism while personaly leading the last defense of Taejon, was wearing green fatigues and his two-star insignia when he landed in Tokyo

He was driven in an army sedan from Haneda Airport to Tokyo Army Hospital, where he put on hospital-issue pajamas

Will Get Complete Check

Although Dean appears healthy, army physicians will give him a thorough check before he can leave for the United States.

They may complete their examination Sunday.

A hospital dietician said Dean was in excellent spirits with "an amazing appetite."

The general's pretty wife told newsmen at Monterey, Calif, that news of her husband's release left her numb but, "It's wonderful—just wonderful."

Thermometers Tumble as Cold Front Arrives

Temperature Drops 38 Degrees, Ending 11-Day Wave of Heat

By The Associated Press

Temperatures dropped from 93 to a low of 55 last night in Marion as a cold front, accompanied by rain, moved into the area around 5 30, ending an 11-day heat wave during which temperatures were in the 90's.

In that period, the season high of 98 was equalled two days in a row. Rainfall last evening measured .31 of an inch.

The cool air coming out of Canada is to reach the eastern states by today, ending the nation's longest and most damaging heat wave in 20 years.

The extensive cool Canadian air mass which started its push into the Northern Plains Wednesday was expected to cover the entire eastern half of the country by tonight.

The cooler air, moving south and eastward, yesterday spread through the lower Mississippi Valley and most of the upper Ohio Valley. Showers accompanied the cool air and temperatures throughout most of the mid-continent dropped into the 60's and 70's after up to 11 days of readings ranging from 90 to above 100.

Death Toll Hits 149

But there were many hot spots in the East Central and Eastern states again yesterday. The death toll from the hot weather increased to at least 149. Crops, livestock and pasture lands suffered several millions of dollars damage during the prolonged spell of hot weather in areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic Seaboard.

In Columbus, Ohio, the mercury climbed to 95 4 yesterday before arrival of the northerly breezes

Holiday Death Toll Gets Away To Early Start

By The Associated Press

The toll of violent deaths in the 78-hour Labor Day weekend slowly began climbing today as millions took their last summer holiday fling.

In the first weekend hours, at least 25 persons met violent deaths —20 of them in highway mishaps Three persons drowned and two died in a California plane crash.

The National Safety Council estimates 440 persons will die in traffic accidents during the weekend period, from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday. This would be an average of more than five deaths an hour.

Last year the 78-hour holiday traffic toll was 432 The record is 461 in 1951—just 21 more than the council's 440 estimate for this year.

The record for accidental Labor Day weekend deaths of all types also was in 1951, when 658 persons perished. The corresponding figure for last year was 558, including 55 drownings and 71 deaths from miscellaneous causes.

World Eyes Election in West Germany

U.S. Backing Adenauer, Reds Want His Defeat In Voting Tomorrow

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's national election campaign wound up today as 33 million voters prepared to cast ballots in what looked to the outside world like a contest between Russia and America.

To the average German, however, there was no clear-cut East-West choice such as recent Moscow and Washington statements would seem to imply.

U. S. Backs Adenauer

The United States, through Secretary of State Dulles, gave its blessing Thursday to Chancelor Konrad Adenauer's pro-Western conservative coalition government.

Russia, through the official news agency Tass, called last night for the defeat of Adenauer and his program of rearmament in alliance with the West

German voters who will decide the issue in tomorrow's parliamentary voting—perhaps the most significant election in postwar Europe—could point out that both parties with any chance of winning are anti-Communist. The opposition Socialists are just as strongly opposed to Moscow as Adenauer's Christian Democrats.

DR. KONRAD ADENAUER
Christian Democrat Candidate

ERICK OLLENHAUER
German Socialist Leader

But to the outside world the difference was this:

The triumph of the 77-year-old Chancellor's Christian Democrats would commit West Germany to his program of raising German troops for the proposed West European army, a project the United States supports.

A Socialist victory, however, would bring in a policy of unarmed neutrality in the cold war, which Moscow demands.

For most Germans, however, the main question was: which policy offers the most hope of achieving that all-German dream of reuniting both the Soviet-occupied East Zone and West Germany in peace and freedom?

Soviet Threat

Tass said last night that the moment Adenauer achieves his goal of a Western military Alliance "it

The Peace That Jesus Gives

Hymns are still being written

Since St. Clement of Alexanderia wrote "Shepherd of Tender Youth" 17½ centuries ago, nobody knows how many hymns have been written. Some hymnologists estimate 500,000. But that is only a guess.

Most of the hymns in use today are products of the 18th and 19th centuries. Few hymns, in the strict sense, have been written in the past 75 years. But with "gospel songs" it's a different story. These lighter, lilting Christian songs took hold during the great revival campaigns before the turn of the century and have held their popularity. As the Rev. Dr. Haldor Lillenas, an authority on the subject, puts it, "At no time has there been more activity in the field of gospel song writing than during the first half of the 20th century."

But the 20th century has also its hymn writers . . . Frank Mason North, "Where Cross the Crowded Ways Of Life;" Maltbie Babcock, "This Is My Father's World;" William Pierson Merrill, "Rise Up, O Men of God;" Harry Emerson Fosdick, "God Of Grace And God Of Glory," and others. Of the living authors-composers whose works are found in the most stately hymnals, Haldor Lillenas stands among the foremost.

Born in Norway, Lillenas came to America at the age of 2 in 1888. He spent his early life as a chemist in the West, was converted at a mission in Oregon, joined the Church of the Nazarene, filled pulpits of that denomination in half a dozen cities and resigned in 1930 to devote his time and talents to the writing of hymns and publishing religious books.

While holding a pastorate in Illinois, a violent storm swept across the state and for a while the minister-composer-poet thought his home might be destroyed. After the storm subsided, a calm followed and the sun broke peacefully through the clouds, the Rev. Lillenas walked out into his flower garden where he was inspired to write both words and music for this, one of his nearly 3000 hymns and gospel songs.

From St. Clement to Lillenas, the noble work of hymn writing goes on.

Like the sunshine after rain,
Like a rest that follows pain;
Like a hope returned again,
Is the peace that Jesus gives.

Like the soft, refreshing dew,
Like a rosy daybreak new,
Like a friendship tender, true,
Is the peace that Jesus gives.

Like a river deep and long,
With its current, ceaseless, strong;
Like the cadence of a song,
Is the peace that Jesus gives.

(CHORUS)
Oh, the peace that Jesus gives . . .
Never dies, it always lives;
Like the music of a psalm,
Like a glad, eternal calm,
Is the peace that Jesus gives . . .
Is the peace that Jesus gives.

Salvation Army Officer To Be Here Wednesday

Commissioner John Bladin, international traveling secretary of the Salvation Army, will be the speaker at the services Wednesday night at the Army Citadel here. The meeting is scheduled for 7:45 o'clock.

The commissioner, a native of Australia, has just concluded successful evangelistic campaigns in Australia, New Zealand and the Far East.

Engaged in Salvation Army work for 49 years, he spent a number of years with prisoners in Australia, later specializing in working with young people. During World War I he served as a chaplain with the New Zealand forces, spending three years with the troops in France. Other appointments were in Canada and Australia and in 1940 he was appointed chief secretary for Salvation Army evangelical work in Great Britain. Three years later he was made territorial commander for Scotland and Ireland and this was followed by a period in which he directed British Red Shield Services. Prior to taking the office of traveling secretary he was principal of the International Training College in London.

Acceptable Sacrifice

A Sermonette

By REV. L. E. AMES
Pastor of First Evangelical United Brethren Church

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your spiritual service." — Romans 12:1.

What is the meaning of the phrase, "By the mercies of God?" Some define it in terms of education, freedom, privilege, homes, churches, schools, all the benefits of a Christian civilization individual and social. These benefits are "by the mercies of God"; but St. Paul is speaking of something more fundamental and primary in the personal religious experience and living of Christians.

A few years ago I was privileged to attend a missionary institute conducted by a united women's group from many churches. They had given personally and collectively many good and profitable years in the service of Christian missions. I was deeply appreciative of that most useful united ministry. When I considered, however, the missionary ministry of the speaker, a Christian woman who had spent more than 40 years in China, I was obliged to say within myself, "She has given more than they all. She has put her body upon the altar. All that she is, and has, and has done constitutes a life-long contribution to God's service in China." She had given her body, a living sacrifice, wholly as well as holy.

JESUS SUPPORTS St. Paul with a companion statement: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul, with all thy strength, and with all thy mind." These and all of our soul and body powers are comprehended in St. Paul's magnificent challenge to Christians.

Intelligence is consecrated when the body is put upon the altar. Sanctified intelligence is a first, great need of the world today. Christianity affords large room for creative and directive thinking. Religious education occupies a large and important place in the Word of God and in the program of the Church. God, as of old, is calling mankind to the council table. "Come and let us reason together" (Isaiah 1:18).

St. Paul presented a challenge to young Timothy, his son in the Lord, when he advised him: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (2 Tim. 2:15). St. Paul was a tent maker by trade and it has been suggested that he was saying in affect to Timothy: "Cut the canvas straight and not on the bias, lest the cloth pull and sag." I fear that many today are cutting the Scripture on the bias and many strange and questionable interpretations of Scripture abound in the world, deceiving and misleading many.

SCIENCE, LAW, medicine, industry, business—all these sciences and professions speak in exact terms. Shall we who minister to the immortal interests of people, be any less certain, any less exact in dealing with the great propositions centering in God? Like Paul we should be able to say, "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have commited unto him."

Emotions and affections are consecrated when the body is put upon the altar. We live by our emotions, and without emotion life (even the Christian life) is dull, drab and dreary.

America's second great need today is more emotion in our religion and more religion in our emotions. The Church is definitely a part of America. If a part of the Church is excessively emotional, then it is possible that another part of the Church is too cold-blooded, casual and blase.

THINK OF THE great words in Christian theology, calculated to stir our hearts with enthusiasms: God, Father; Christ, Savior; Holy Spirit, Comforter; salavation, forgiveness, peace, heaven, life eternal. Once the sight of them stirred Christian hearts to great enthusiasm. They were like bright, shinging new coins fresh from the mint; attractive and valuable. Today they seem to have lost caste and beauty. They are like once new coins that have been worn into smoothness and common-placeness. Our hearts do not seem to thrill at the mention of them. Yet Christianized emotion is the motive power of our religion and of every word and work that hacks like angel's sword at Eden's gate.

Our entire self-conscious being is offered when the body is put upon the altar. Jesus said, "With all thy soul." "Soul" represents conscious being, will-power, decision, choice. He also said, "With all thy strength." "Strength" is comprehended in the surrender of the body to God. Jesus again said, "With all thy heart." "Heart is the seat of the emotions, affections, likes and dislikes.

St. Paul advises that we have a consecration service and yield our possessions upon the altar; a consecration service and devote our time and our talents to God; a consecration service and dedicate mind, soul and affections to God. He suggests that all of life is a consecration service in which all our possessions are considered the property of God, even our bodies "a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God."

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Take a Prayer To Work With You

I always try, just before Labor Day, to write on the application of prayer and faith in the daily work of all of us. Not so long ago, I told over the radio a story about prayer in business and asked my listeners to send me others. Letters came in by the hundreds, and I want to tell you about one of them.

DR. PEALE

A group of men, so the letter said, was seated in a smoky hotel suite. The men had their coats off and their sleeves rolled up. The ashtrays were littered with cigaret butts and chewed cigar ends. It looked as though the occupants had been in that suite for a long time and expected to stay.

There was a round table about which they were seated. It too was littered—with papers, thick law books, all the appurtenances of a business meeting. But there was a tension in the air that is not usually present at most business meetings.

THE TENSION WAS there because this was an important conference between the representatives of two giants bitterly espousing opposing viewpoints—the officers of the major companies in a great basic industry and the officers of the powerful union representing their employes. A strike was threatened if certain conditions were not met and that strike would set back the nation's defense production. The negotiations had reached an impasse and even the Federal conciliator from Washington was unable to bring about a meeting of minds.

The talk had been bitter and nasty. Tempers were at a breaking point. Men sucked at their cigars angrily or loosened their collars and ties in irritation. A hostile silence fell over the room.

THEN, QUIETLY, with an Irish brogue, one of the labor leaders spoke up: "You know, there's one thing we haven't tried and maybe it can bring us together—help us find an acceptable formula, somehow. I'm going to sit here and pray. If any of you want to do the same, it may help a lot, but if you don't want to pray, you can at least think."

The other men looked at him in surprise. The room became quiet as a church. For five minutes or so each man sat occupied with his own thoughts. The man who had spoken prayed in silence—perhaps some of the others prayed also. At any rate, an hour later, the conciliator came out of the room to announce to the reporters waiting outside that a settlement had been reached and a strike had been avoided.

Never before in history have people realized how the subtle power of prayer can give clarity to the mind, insight to the thoughts, and power to the personality. Prayer fuses people together, making real teamwork possible so that there is no lack of harmony, no breakup of personal relationships.

TAKE YOUR WORK, whatever it is, and dedicate it to God. Fill yourself and your job full of God's spirit, pray to Him and ask his guidance when you need help — an you will find that your work is easier and that you do your job more efficiently.

St Benedict, who founded the Benedictine order of monks, took as his motto, "To labor is to pray." And, indeed, they are inextricably joined together.

When you pray about your work it also goes better. Relations with your associates are improved. Your mind delivers fresh and creative ideas, and you get more pleasure out of your job. So take a prayer to work with you.

MISS ALICE M. DOME

New Teacher Here Once in Mission Work

Miss Alice Mae Dome, bringing to Marion the experience of educational and missionary work in Burma and India, will teach in the public school system here. She is scheduled for second grade at Glenwood School.

A graduate of Asbury College at Wilmore, Ky., in 1939, she was commissioned a missionary to Burma by Bishop Cushman of the Methodist Church later that year, and was principal of the Methodist Burmese Girls School at Rangoon until 1942. She did evangelistic work in 14 schools of the Irrawady River delta in the rubber plantation area.

During World War II bombing raids on Burma, her last three months in that country were spent in assisting Red Cross and evacuation squads. After going to India, with a rest leave, she taught at Kolar, Mysore State, in South India, worked at a medical center with a staff of doctors and nurses, and held children's meetings.

Because of impaired health, she returned to this country for treatment in 1946 on the Swedish repatriation ship, the Gripsholm. She resided at Winona Lake, Ind., then went to Forest where she has relatives before applying for a teaching position here.

Religion Wins Over Business

W. A. Hough Gives Up Grocery for Ministry

To devote full time to religious work, W. A. Hough, who has been in business in Marion since 1933, closed the doors of the North Side Grocery at George and N. Prospects Sts. today.

An active member of Emmanuel Baptist Church several years, he was licensed to preach at a service of the church May 3, this year, and is at present the pastor of the Oak Knoll Baptist Chapel, an extension work of Emmanuel Church in southwest Marion. Beyond his local work, he is associated with the Soul Harvester Mission, Inc.

In April, 1933, Mr. Hough was employed as manager of the grocery store at the George and N. Prospect Sts. location for H. C. Dreyer who was then the owner. He purchased the store from Mr. Dreyer in March, 1942, and he and his father, William H. Hough, have operated the business under the name of North Side Grocery to the present.

His various church activities have included nine years as superintendent of the Emmanuel Baptist Bible School. With the Soul Harvester Mission, he serves as vice president and deputation worker. Continuing his present activities, he plans to go into wider fields of Christian service.

Services at the Oak Knoll Chapel, located south of the Sawyer Sanitorium, are held Sunday and Thursday nights. For his message Sunday, the pastor will continue with another sermon in a series on "Signs of the Times" dealing with current history of the world "in the light of the Scripture." His theme Sunday night will deal with "how Israel and Russia fit into the present day picture."

REJECT PAY OFFER

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Police and firemen have rejected a three per cent pay increase offer and other city employes are expected to follow suit.

Employes said today they wanted a raise of $35 a month, night differential for policemen and other benefits.

REV. O. G. LEWIS

'Gospel Artist' To Lead Baptist Church Services

Rev. O. G. Lewis of Minneapolis, Minn., known as the "Gospel Artist," will be in Marion next week to conduct an evangelistic Bible conference at Emmanuel Baptist Church, beginning Tuesday night. The conference here will continue through Thursday night.

Previously, Rev. Lewis has held services in Marion, and will be remembered for his work of illustrating hymns by painting pictures corresponding to the words he sings. Before entering the ministry, he was a commercial artist.

Following the message Wednesday night, he will show a sound film, "The Prison Camps of Germany" and on Thursday, "Russia at War." All services will be open to the public, Rev. C. E. Hershey, Emmanuel Church pastor, stated.

In World War II there were about 50,000 battle deaths of Americans in the Pacific area.

Find Skeleton Of 1812 Soldier

Discovered Friday In Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY — A nearly complete skeleton of a large man, believed to be the mortal remains of a soldier buried during the War of 1812, was dug up here Friday morning as employes of a local contracting firm were excavating for new walks and lawn curbs in front of the Wyandot County Courthouse.

"Mr. Bones" was a large man as indicated by the length and circumference of the leg and arm bones and by the arc of his rig cage Missing were the bones of the feet and the skull, but enough of a jaw bone was there to indicate a prominent chin.

Only articles found with the skeleton were a metal button in fairly good condition and a badly rusted pocket knife. The bones were found about a yard below the surface where a trench was being dug for the north curb of the front entrance walk.

A large bronze plaque at the northeast corner of that section of the lawn marks the site of Fort Ferree, main headquarters of Gen William H. Harrison's army in the War of 1812. The plaque also states many of his soldiers who died in battle are buried in this courthouse yard.

The skeleton, knife and button were placed in the Wyandot Museum in the Courthouse.

Nitrogen Compound Hydrazine Leading Fuel for Rocket Ships

NEW YORK (UP) — Would-be space navigators soon will be able to fuel up with a chemical compound — hydrazine — which some scientists think may be a leading candidate to power space ships.

This nitrogen compound, which was a laboratory curiosity until it was propelled out of obscurity late in World War II by German rockets, now has gone into production in this country for the first time on a scale large enough to meet all military and chemical industry needs, plus a surplus for exploring new uses.

John M. Olin, president of Matholin Corp , a new company formed jointly by Mathieson Chemical Corp. and Olin Industries, Inc., to manufacture and do research on this chemical, said:

"We regard hydrazine as one of the most exciting of the new commerical chemicals. It promises to be the starting point for an entirely new family of chemicals called hydronitrogens."

Some experts believe that a mixture of hydrazine and nitric acid is the most likely fuel for an interplanetary rocket.

Hydrazine is one of the most versatile materials to spring from test tubes. It is a compound of great energy—a six-atom molecule of two nitrogen atoms and four highly reactive hydrogen atoms. The latter are quick to join with oxygen and other elements to make a large number of different chemical combinations.

It was discovered some 60 years ago by a German chemist, Emil Fischer. Thirty-two years later another German chemist, Friedrich Raschig, developed a way of producing the substance by oxidizing ammonia with sodium hypochlorite, the principal ingredient of ordinary laundry bleach. The big drawback was the $50-a-pound cost.

This chemical compound remained obscure until the final months of World War II, when the Germans were looking for high-energy-release fuels for their rocket program and cost was no object.

U. S. research teams went to Germany after the war to study the available data on hydrazine production, and Mathieson set up a pilot plant at Niagara Falls where it developed a method to cut the cost to $9 a pound A Lake Charles, La., plant is expected to produce hydrazine at $2.50 a pound.

Olin said more than 2,000 hydrazine compounds already have been reported and several score are under investigation in laboratories throughout the country.

Among the products developed thus far is maleic hydrazide, which retards the growth of plants without harmful effect. Experiments along the Merritt Parkway in Connecticut reduced the mowings of grass from 19 to two per season. Applied as a spray, the material also will keep buds on fruit trees from opening until danger of frost is past.

Another interesting use has been in the development of superior new fluxes which speed up the difficult job of soldering aluminum.

Human Said Here 10,000 Years Ago

WARDEN, Wash. (UP) — Evidence of what anthropologists believe to be the oldest prehistoric man found in Washington has been uncovered at Lind Coulee near this Columbia Basin community.

Richard Daugherty, anthropology instructor at Washington State college in Pullman, said cultural evidence indicates the ancient campsite by what may have been a lake was the home base for man 10,000 years ago.

Cultural debris and artifacts found at the camp include projectile points, skin scrapers, knives and red ochre along with evidence of fire, and stone ships left from production of articles.

The only evidence of animals is bison bone, Daugherty said.

Daugherty and Francis Riddle of the University of California were notified of the evidence in 1947 while they were on assignment for the Smithsonian Institute in exploring reservoir areas in advance of their coverage in Washington, Idaho and Montana.

The camp was buried by wind erosion before exploration of the site could be started. Serious attempts to uncover it were not begun until 1951.

Farmers Pick Green, Their Wives Like Red

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—New York State farmers apparently have a green thumb, for they prefer that color. Their wives like red.

Victor R Stephens of the Cornell Extension Teaching and Information Department passed out leaflets in six different colors among 2,000 farm visitors

Of the agricultural crop leaflets for the farmers, those printed in green were most popular.

The womenfolk went for red-printed copies of a home economics leaflet. Green was their least preferred color.

Reduction in Salary Asked by City Employe

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (UP) — City employe Tommy Cord surprised officials by asking that his salary be reduced from $162.50 to $97.50 a month.

Cord, custodian of city hall and police headquarters here, also asked that his working hours be reduced. He explained he holds several other jobs and needs extra time to devote to them.

The city commission speedily granted his request.

Galion City Council Hikes Mayor's Pay

GALION — In order to make up some of the source of income of the mayor which has been removed by recent action of the Ohio State legislature, City Council passed an ordinance Friday night hiking the mayor's salary.

The ordinance, effective Jan 1, 1954, passed as an emergency measure at a recessed session of Council, fixes the bond of the mayor at $2,000, and his yearly salary at $4,000. He had been receiving $3,000, and his bond had been $1,000.

Up to this time, the mayor and the police chief have been dividing costs of municipal court cases, but by passage of a House Bill by the Ohio legislature, the costs must now go into the city general fund.

Tragedy in Round Numbers

Most dismal aspect of the grim process of exchanging prisoners in Korea is the revelation that the Communist captors of U.N. soldiers never had more than a vague idea how many prisoners they held.

It is conceivable that their accounting was so slipshod that a considerable number of prisoners may show up in the future. Long before the end of the exchange, the Communists had produced more prisoners than they acknowledged they held.

They kept no records at all of the thousands of troops they caused to be destroyed through brutality and neglect.

The horrors of this grisliest of wars will have to be described for future reference in round numbers.

Even the numbers on the U.N. side are tragically "round"—69,000 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese to be turned back, compared with 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 North Koreans refusing to be turned back, plus more thousands of North Koreans who "escaped" before the exchange began.

Life is cheap in Asia — all life, not just Asiatic lives.

Whether We Like It or Not

Further evidence that the "moral" influence of the United States may be dwindling in international affairs is the appearance of these words in speculation about the future:

"Whether we like it or not . . ."

It appears from some of the speculation that a number of things are going to happen in the next few years, "whether we like it or not."

The Soviet Union is going to become an export market for commodities and manufactured goods produced in Europe. These will be paid for in large part with the Soviet Union's gold hoard.

Nations with surplus goods to sell in the export trade are going to do business with Communist China. Among the nations with surplus goods to sell is Japan, which either will sell more of them to the United States or will insist on selling more of them to nearby China.

Governments whose politicians are less sensitive to the menace of the Communist conspiracy than the government of the United States is to the conspiracy are going to be increasingly hard to convince that they should let the U. S. State Department dictate or even advise them strongly in the conduct of their international affairs.

The legislators of governments which attach more importance to adjustment than to opposition are going to vote contrary to the known wishes of the United States, as the legislators of Italy did a few weeks ago and as the legislators of France have done on numerous occasions.

The kind of realism supported by Great Britain in the U.N. issue over admitting India to the Korean peace conference is likely to win more followers than was won by the stubborn beguilement of the United States. The British never would have let themselves be wedged into the support of as ancient and unpredictable an Asiatic political personality as South Korea's Syngman Rhee.

A year ago, when the presidential campaign was warming up, voters were promised a change in foreign policy if there were a change of administrations.

The change is beginning to appear, but not wholly as a result of administrative intent. It is beginnnig to appear; also, because events have moved on and robbed the United States of the anti-Communist impetus it first gained when it intervened in Greece, then increased with the Marshall Plan and the North Atlantic Treaty organization. The world is not necessarily going to be divided into two camps after all.

There may be, instead, a Soviet Union camp and a United States camp, with a third camp composed of countries determined to keep from being squeezed between opposing forces too powerful for them to control.

The Brass

Gen. Ridgway's first press conference as a member of the Chiefs of Staff opened a subject which is certain to be explored at length.

The general thinks the expression "the brass" has been making it more difficult for the armed forces to win the prestige and confidence they need to have.

Since the expression is in common usage in civil as well as military circles, Gen. Ridgway's opinion's about its effect will stir comment in both places.

The fact is that in both places "the brass" is nothing but an easy phrase to denote management — high brass, medium brass and low brass. The further fact is that it is not in itself a term of disrespect. It can be whispered, sneered and jeered, or spoken with affection and respect, depending on the occasion.

The idea is that the brass, being what it is —management—is endlessly on trial for its right to command respect. It cannot command respect automatically, except in the military legend that rank bestows qualities which can be bestowed only by birth and breeding. The legend, needless to say, would last only a few weeks even as legend without the birth and breeding which make most of "the brass" in this republic worthy of respect.

Bewildering Words

State Department Speeches Increase Confusion

Just who and what are the American people to believe as they read the many words poured forth daily from their government designed to mold an opinion favorable to the administration in power?

This question is bewildering to those of us who read every statement that comes out of officialdom here, but it must be even more baffling to readers generally.

Here is an example:

Before the annual convention of the American Legion at St. Louis, John Foster Dulles, the secretary of state, made a very impressive speech with plenty of firmness and vigor directed at the Red Chinese and the Soviets about a possible second aggression in Asia.

His warning was especially pointed with reference to the possibility that military strength from Korea might be diverted by the Communists to the rebels in Indochina.

The next day, however, comes a dispatch from Peiping making it clear that "The Soviet-Chinese bloc has no intention of withdrawing its support of the rebel Viet Nam forces" in Indochina. The Red Chinese government added that, "With the sympathy and support of the peace-loving poeples of the world, the Viet Nam rebels will win greater victories."

So evidently the Red Chinese are not impressed with what Mr. Dulles has been saying, and the reports are that their military aid to the Indochinese Communists has actually been stepped up ever since the armistice negotiations were completed in Korea, and information to this effect has been received by the Washington government right along.

Yet on the same day that these latest dispatches defying the American government's announced policy come in, a speech is made by another spokesman of the Department of State.

He is assistant secretary of state, T. B. Morton, speaking before the national convention of another veterans organization —the AMVETS—at Indianapolis. He says:

"We have halted the Communist aggressors. We have helped a free republic to remain free . . . We have halted the Kremlin's global program for piecemeal aggression."

Then Mr. Morton went on to give a good example of official intolerance of criticism. He adds:

"The 'Defeat-for-America' theme parallels the Communist line. And, like most Communist lines, it is entirely false."

Assistant Secretary Morton appears to think that the United Nations won a great military victory in Korea, but he fails to read what other spokesmen for the administration have been saying about that question.

The assistant secretary, moreover, is not content with calling American critics who disagree with the official propaganda of the Department of State followers of the "Communist line." He proceeds inconsistently to deliver a lecture on the perils of conformity. He says:

"There are, I know, some patriotic Americans who are so disturbed by the menace of Communism that they are beginning to wonder whether or not it would not be best to chip off a little liberty here and there to preserve the basic fundamentals of democracy.

"I share their concern about Communism. But not their willingness to allow the chipping of any of our liberties. The fact is that your cannot chip any part of the structure of liberty without beginning to destroy the entire structure."

Mr. Morton doen't come out and say what liberties have been destroyed or taken away from any innocent person. He goes on to say he agrees with Judge Learned Hand, who said that "That community is already in process of dissolution where each man begins to eye his neighbor as a possible enemy, where non-conformity with the accepted creed, political as well as religious, is a mark of disaffection."

Yet, the assistant secretary of state in the same address says all who do not accept the State Department's concept of a big victory in Korea are paralleling the Communist line.

Gen. Van Fleet, Gen. MacArthur and the heads of various veterans units in America who have been pointing to the defeat in Korea as having been imposed by Allied restrictions must apparently stand accused of paralleling the Communist line when they endeavor to tell the truth as they see it.

What sort of "conformity" does the State Department expect? Plainly the real difficulty is to elicit from the Peiping and Moscow governments the desired "conformity."

Soviet Russia nevertheless goes steadily on with its infiltration all over the world, including Latin-America, while Red China deliberately increases its military aid to Indochina's communist forces. It surely is hard to keep track of the "victories" and the "defeats."

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: We have pulled through the heat wave so far and will survive, though this afternoon I retreated to the basement with a deck chair and a cold bottle of tonic. I felt better by sundown.

I see in the papers that groups of employes have been walking out in a huff because it was too hot, which is all right with me and probably was all right with the boss, who was just as hot as they were. This sort of thing has been going on in heat waves ever since I have been reading the papers.

For every employe who walks off the job and refuses to come back until management has done something about the heat, there must be a thousand other employes who hold it against management because there ever was a heat wave in the first place. When people get hot under the collar, or somewhere else if they're not wearing collars, someone must take the blame.

I wonder if you remember those wonderful days when you, your father and I would contrive excuses to walk along the river bank on hot afternoons until we came to that clump of poplars where the big drainage tile from the marsh came through. If so, you remember what it used to feel like to take that first wonderful plunge from the trunk of the poplar that stuck out over the edge of the water.

We didn't blame the heat on anyone then; we were glad of an excuse to get cooled off in such a delightful fashion. But now we must pin down responsibility where it belongs. We live in an age of holding everybody accountable for everything.

A good crop that hammers down prices must be blamed on the administration in power. Too much rain in the spring and bigh winds must be blamed on people who make atomic bombs.

Too much dryness in the late summer is an excuse to wedge someone into a corner and beat him with a stick. Too much heat is obviously the fault of someone too stubborn and reactionary to turn on the cold. And next winter too much cold will be the fault of someone too stubborn to turn on the heat.

That's the way it is. I have been wrapped up in the theory of behaviorism lately. When we learn more about behaviorism nothing will take us by surprise. We'll be able to predict the outcome of elections because we'll know exactly how people will react to any given set of circumstances.

We will know for a certainty that the boss is going to be blamed for the heat, that the party in power will be blamed for low wages and prices and that scientists will be blamed for everything we cannot understand. In fact, that's the way it is right now.

As barometric pressure rises and the wind begins to blow, more people grow depressed and take their own lives. As the temperature rises, labor - management relations grow strained. As starvation sets in, human beings dream of revolution because they have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

That's behaviorism. Give my regards to the family and my sympathy to that part of it which must start to school again.

Slight Headway Made in Tax Reforms

By Raymond Moley

The new estimates of spending and receipts just issued by President Eisenhower's Budget Bureau are no doubt designed to cheer us.

At any rate, they have been accompanied by loud huzzas by such loyal Republicans as Martin and Haleck.

The words of praise must have seared the well-worn throats of those statesmen. They must know that, despite these figures, the progress toward relieving the aching backs of taxpayers has been meager.

In fact, I have found in my travels over the country this summer a dawning conviction that much of the talk last year about economy was mere campaign oratory. I am convinced that unless something drastic is done, neither this administration nor any other that we may elect will ever reform itself.

A careful examination of the earlier budget figures submitted by the President and his budget director shows that most of the cuts below the earlier Truman estimates were in defense requests.

This was easy to do for two reasons. First, Truman inserted into the budget certain requests that he knew would perish in January. He put in everything he could think of to show his good will to grasping communities and politicians.

If there were to be aching hearts, he was determined that somebody else would get the blame.

Second, 8 billions had already been appropriated and not spent. In previous years the capacity of Congress to appropriate had far overrun the capacity of our economic system to produce.

An administration would have to be blind and deaf not to be able to cut billions from the Truman estimates. It was the House of Representatives that did the really serious cutting. The boys there have to face angry taxpayers at home.

The real determination of an administration to cut spending is reflected in the number of civil employes it is willing to fire.

That is not the full measure of the cost of government, but it reflects the extent to which spenders are going to be allowed to hold their jobs.

The record in reducing such employes is not so good. The able and indefatigable Sen. Byrd released figures at the end of July which show that in five months the administration has reduced the burden of 2,550,000 civil employes by only three per cent and most of those were in the Defense Department.

In June, I wrote an article concerning the failure of the absurdly overgrown State Department to reduce its wasteful employment.

An official of that department wrote a letter to a friend of mine complaining that I had been unfair to the new people brought in by the President and Dulles.

He said that they had cut a great deal — specifically, 827 employes. However, that figure amounted to about two per cent of the number employed by the department in 1952.

Now, the department says that it will have got rid of about 1,100 by November. That will still be less than three per cent.

The American people are not going to be happy about two or three per cent economies. Not when taxes compel them to deny themselves far more than that in what they want to spend or save.

Drastic compulsion is what a bureaucracy needs. In another article I shall call attention to the violent opposition, including propaganda, that has greeted the cuts already made.

After that, I shall describe what seems to be the only way to hold a bureaucracy in check.

UMW Fund Big Business

By Edward Nellor

John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers' Welfare and retirement Fund is big business, an annual report issued by the fiery union boss reveals today.

Claiming that more miners — 178.5 — were killed or injured daily during the three-year period of June 1950 to June 1953 than were killed or injured during the Korean War, the UMW states that a total of 138,963,949 has been spent on miners and their dependents for the year.

Largely financed from royalty payments, made by miner owners, of 40 cents per ton of coal mined, Lewis noted that the fund has an unexpended balance of $92,024,732. Additional fund earnings come from investments in government bonds.

The annual report did not contain an unkind word for coal-mine operators, though the report labeled its own cash benefits to totally disabled miners as "meager." The payments are $30 a month, plus $10 a month for each dependent.

Lewis is chairman of the UMW Welfare and Retirement Fund. Other trustees are Josephine Roche and Charles A. Owen. The fund was set up following bitter argument and strikes involving coal-mine operators and the UMW.

The UMW fund aided one-half on the homes in every mining community in the United States. It boasts that hospitals in every state in the U.S. but three provided care during 1952 at the expense of the fund for sick and injured miners and their dependents.

Other accomplishments claimed in the report are:

The millionth hospital bill paid out of the fund was used to cover the cost of the delivery of a miner's twin boys.

A medical miracle paid by the fund enabled a crippled miner's wife to walk again.

A rare heart operation was performed successfully on the 500,000th fund patient.

The life span of miners is up five years, the report claims, as a result of the fund.

Construction on 10 fund hospitals in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia is under way.

Lewis reports that the fund spent its money in this fashion during 1952:

Pensions: 50,055 miners received pensions of $100 per month. Hospital and medical benefits: $56,444,329, providing 2,325,921 days of care for 230, 678 cases.

Rehabilitation: $9,158,816 for 35,015 beneficiaries.

Widows' and survivors' cash benefits: $10,456.85, aiding 40,578 widows and orphans.

Disaster benefits: $105,288.

Administrative costs for the Washington headquarters and 10 area medical offices totaled 2.8 per cent of the total fiscal 1952 expenditures.

Lewis and his UMW medical officials do not attempt to set fees for either medical or hospital care, the report asserts.

On Alert for Poliophobia

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Doctors must be on the alert for poliophobia.

It mimics the dread epidemic poliomyelitis, but it exists only in the mind of the victim.

This is the warning of Dr. Clifford G. Grulee of Tulane University, made in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The condition, he points out, is especially deceptive, since diagnosis of polio is difficult at the best.

"During epidemics," says Dr. Grulee, "Dread of poliomyelitis is so great that any type of complaint may be interpreted as dangerous evidence of the disease. Symptomology is involuntarily imitated and hysterical conditions may appear. Feelings of suffocation may suggest repiratory involvement.

"Complete aphona (loss of voice) and a sluggish gag reflex may be encountered. Persons may complain of a lump in the throat and may fear that bulbar involvement is developing. (Bulbar polio, which hits the breathing centers at the base of the brain, is the most serious form of the disease.)

"When these persons are examined, ingenuity may reveal that an apparently paralyzed muscle actually functions in one type of movement although not in another. Deep tendon reflexes are normally brisk. Frequently areas of hyperasthesia (intense sensitivity), having a bizarre distribution, are described.

"None of these abnormal findings, however, persist during sleep, temperature is not sufficiently elevated, bladder and bowel function are normal, and paralytic findings often are altered by suggestion.

"An understanding attitude and repeated physical examination to confirm the absence of real disease, together with prescription of rest, are usually adequate to allay anxiety and this eradicates signs of illness."

Imaginary Cross-Examination

("A crackdown on Communists among the lawyers of America is threatened by the American Bar Association and the attorney general of the United States. The time is declared long overdue for purging the bar of members who play hand in hand with U.S.S.R. agents in this country, a Bar Association resolution said." —News item.

Q—Mister Barrister, the evidence is that you are an attorney belonging to the Communist party and an ever-ready mouthpiece of Communists arrested or summoned before Senate committees in the hunt for spies. What is your plea?

A—May I consult my lawyer?

Q—What do you mean? You ARE a lawyer?

A—That's right. I get a little mixed up these days.

Q—Are you a Communist or not?

A—I decline to answer.

Q—On the ground it might incriminate you?

A—Yes and on the ground it could cost me

Q—Do you think a lawyer belonging to a my right to practice law.

party committed to the destruction of the government's laws should have the right to serve as an agent of American courts dedicated to the protection of those laws?

A—I object to that question on the ground it is irrelevant, immaterial, too pointed and darned embarrassing.

Q—You frequently show up as counsel for clients against whom there is proof of Moscow affiliations, do you not?

A—That's my business.

Q—I'll accept that as a highly satisfactory answer. Isn't it true that whenever a committee of Congress summons witnesses named by the FBI as agents of Russia you leap into action as coach, adviser and buddy?

A—I decline to answer under the Fifth Amendment.

Q—What law school did you graduate from?

Q—Mumm's University. I also took a degree at Runaround Seminary.

Q—You know, do you not, that when a man is admitted to the bar anywhere he takes an oath to serve as an agent of the court in upholding the laws and establishing truth and justice?

A—I decline to answer under the Fifth Amendment.

Q—What's the Fifth Amendment got to do with a question like that?

A—Nothing, but in a tight spot like this it often helps. I hold that a man can be a good member of the bar and still belong to the Communist party.

Q—You mean a man can be half a Commie and half an American?

A—Don't ask questions like that. I was never good at fractions.

Q—Do you contend a lawyer can hold a copy of Blackstone in one hand a a hammer and sickle in the other?

A—Yes. In fact, my class at law school voted me the Man Most Likely to Be Ambidestrous. I also was voted the best all-around contortionist.

Q—Have you held at times certain part-time educational positions?

A—Yes. I held the Benedict Arnold Chair in Advanced Ingratitude at Snoopsey. I was assistant professor of the Bite-the-Hand-That-Feeds-You courses at Foulblow Heights Prep.

Q—Are you the Professor Ananias who once gave the Judas Iscariot Lectures at Ratty University.

A—Come, come, don't rub it in, boys!

Q—How did you stand in your class in point of scholarship?

A—I was graduated Cum Clamup.

Q—What's that pin you are wearing so prominently.

A—My college fraternity. . . Theta Dubbeltalk.

Grim Reaper on Overtime

Death Gets Up Early for Busy Holiday

NEW YORK (AP)—Death got up early this morning.

Most of America slept late at the start of this long Labor Day weekend rest from its usual work, but death promptly went on overtime.

If an ox, a cow, a horse could declare itself a holiday to show that life holds a dignity and reward beyond the sweat of toil, it would browse and dream in pure animal wonder, and rise refreshed on the morrow. And even Death might take most of the day off, too.

But when mankind has a holiday for any reason, Death can know no idleness. He must tabulate a great human self-slaughter.

And so it was Death rose early today . . . he had a lot to do in the three busy days ahead . . he had many a mortal rendezvous to keep on highway and byway, in homes and salons, on pond and pavement, on mountain cliff and summer playground. . .

For Death had a double duty. . . he had not only his usual job to do, the escorting of the sick and old and life-worn across his pale frontier . . . he had his extra holiday clients to attend to . . . the lost battalion of the needless dead. . .

On such days Death, the fair weather friend of the foolish, initiates new members into the D.O.A. club . . .This club has no dues and no life memberships. . . it is made up of unseeing people who are brought to hospitals and tagged with a card bearing three initials that stand for "dead on arrival."

Yes, Death got up early this morning . . . for in the next three days there are hundreds of Americans he must meet and wave to their doom, a D.O.A. tag . . The potential new membership crop was large and the land was wide . . . and Death is conscientious . . He didn't want anyone who earned that tag to miss it. . .

Wherever Americans set out to celebrate the holiday, this skeletal comrade of the stupid and careless went right along for the fun.

And here is what he will say, or perhaps is saying even now:

In 10,000 cars rounding 10,000 curves he whispers to the driver, "Go on and pass that car ahead of you. . . How do you know there is another car coming around the bend? . . .Never mind what your wife is saying. . ."

And on some of the curves another car does come around the bend . . . there is a scream and a crash of metal . . . Death says to the silent husband, "So long, sucker" . . . and says to the silent wife, "Dear, you'll never get to marry another fool'. . . then he walks over to the silent, huddled driver of the second car and says, "Pal, I know you didn't want to join our organization. . . but I am only taking memberships, and this other guy nominated you . . . and now you belong . . ."

Or Death puts his arm around a teen-age high school driver and says, "faster, kid, faster . . . Boy, you're a real hot rod . . .Sure you can see clear in the moonlight . . . See how close you can come to that bridge" . . . A moment later the boy's ribs are in his lungs, blood drowns his whimpers, and Death tags him and says, "You know, I almost thought you'd mage it . . . Well, even counting the funeral costs, I saved your folks most of the $5,000 they'd put away for your college education."

And somewhere a mother at a picnic, busy fixing the dinner, is sure someone else in the family is keeping an eye on the child who toddles toward the lakefront . . . and sure enough, someone is . . . "Come in, little girl," says Death from the water. "I will catch you, and your mother will never, never forget you again. See the pretty tag I have for you . . ."

An overweight man of 45 with a fading heart calls across the tennis court and says to his boy, "Son, I'll beat you this fifth set or drop dead.". . . and as he lifts the racquet, Death taps him and says, "drop. . ."

Then Death hurries to a barroom. . . there's a fellow betting he can drink a pint bottle of whisky without drawing a breath . . . and Death grins and says, "Just a dead game sport to the end, aren't you, mister?. . ."

And before the empty bottle falls to the floor, Death is off to a lonely room where a lonely man sick with self-pity looks at the gun in his hand and mutters, "Would I be any more lonely dead?". . . and Death, writing his tag says, "come and see . . ."

So Death will move at a ceaseless pace this Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, playing a deadly game of tag across all America with the holiday risk-takers and their victims . . . and the foolish . . and the unwary. Wherever he pauses an ambulance will halt, pick up a still burden and race with it to a hospital where it will get the epitaph.— D.O.A.—"dead on arrival."

On Tuesday, when the holiday insanity is over, Death—slowing down to his normal rounds—may look back, sick at his own vast three-day harvest, and ask wearily:

"How many holidays can I go through like this without killing myself?"

Ex-Convict Confesses Killing Elderly Couple

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police said ex-convict Sam Nettles listened to the plea of his deeply religious mother last night, and then admitted the knife slayings and robbery of an elderly Toledo couple

Detective Capt. Ralph Murphy said Mrs. Rosa Lee Nettles, 57, told her 30-year-old son: "If you did it, tell them you did it."

Nettles, the officer said, claimed he could not remember the details of the killings, but recalled he grappled with 76-year-old William Pegler in Pegler's home.

"I can't remember what happened after that, I was too drunk," Murphy quoted Nettles as saying.

The bodies of Pegler and his wife, Bertha, 68, were found Wednesday night, bearing 54 knife wounds. A quantity of jewelry was stolen from the house, and police said this led to the arrest of Nettles as he tried to sell it

Defiance Hopes Ike Will Visit

President Considering Dedication of Library

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—There's a possibility President Eisenhower will attend the dedication of Defiance College's new library later this month.

In Denver last night, Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, told newsmen the President has under consideration an invitation to attend the dedication.

Kevin McCann, president of Defiance College, is a friend and adviser of the President.

President McCann and a group of Defiance business and civic leaders have issued the invitation. They have made all the preliminary arangements for the visit in the event the President decides to come here.

While no specific date has been announced for the program, a tentative Sept. 19 date has been decided upon.

Present plans call for extension of the runway at the Defiance-Bryan Memorial Airport, six miles from here, to accommodate the presidential plane, the Columbine, if the President can accept the invitation.

Laboratory Earthquake Gives Clue to Real Thing

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Tiny earthquakes "manufactured" in a laboratory by a pulsating crystal may give information leading to understanding of real earthquakes, and the nature of the earth's interior and other data, including oil deposits.

The Institute of Geophysics at the University of California reported the baby tremblors let scientists study seismic behavior under controlled conditions. Usual method is to have the crystal generate its pulsations through granite, wax or cement at the rate of 1,000 per second.

The shock waves are recorded photographically on a graph for study. Such waves, a scientist said, are the best method at present of exploring the earth's interior.

He appointed Jack Martin, formerly chief aide to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, to be one of his administrative assistants and advanced Gerald D. Morgan, until now a secondary aide to Eisenhower, to the rank of administrative assistant. Both will work on legislative matters.

Another appointment was that of Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, presently a special assistant to the President, to be a deputy assistant. Persons will serve under Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's chief aide, with the aim of relieving Adams of some of his work load.

The 14 boys do the manual labor, and the six girls take care of the cooking and housekeeping The congregation members and other laymen help out with electrical wiring, plastering, plumbing and similar specialized jobs. Even much of the food is donated.

The work is supervised by the Rev. George Murray, formerly a mechanical engineer and now pastor of a church at Galax, Va

Rev. Butler, who has had charge of the congregation for two years, also does his share of the work.

Nebraska Citizens Missing Politico

LINCOLN (UP) — An effort will be made to put politics back in Nebraskas non-political, unicameral legislature

The 43-man unicameral, established in 1937 after a vote by the people in 1934, is the only one of its kind in the nation

Officals and students from many other states have visited here to study its one-house operation

But after 16 years and nine sessions, Republicans and Democrats complain that you can't enact laws properly without "political responsibility"

The two state chairmen, Republican David Martin and Democrat William Meier, have sparked formation of a committee which will seek to change the legislative setup to permit election of senators on a partisan basis.

Petitions will be circulated to place the question on the ballot in the election in November, 1955

Meier and Martin charged that the legislature goes in "43 different directions" and the state suffers from lack of "definite programs"

Members of the two-party committee haven't decided whether they will advocate a return also to the old two-house legislature.

They will need 65,000 signatures to put their proposal on the ballot.

SACRAMENTO, Calif (UP) — The California Department of Fish and Game reports that a California coyote will eat almost anything—from watermelon to rattlesnake.

Department researchers' analyses of more than 2,200 coyote stomachs in the past 12 years have turned up evidence of rattlesnakes, insects, small birds, livestock and deer, skunk, watermelons, manzanita berries and poison oak leaves.

South Korean Boy Given Chance at American Schools

WINTER PARK, Fla. (UP) — Thanks to a handful of Air Force veterans, an Orlando newspaper and a Florida philanthropist, a South Korean youth is going to get a college education in the United States.

He is Bae Jae Kyu, an honor student from Taegu, who was recently accepted conditionally as a freshman at Rollins College here.

The youth's acceptance grew out of a letter published in the Orlando Evening Star which explained his desire to get an American education. The story of the hard-working Korean boy's struggle for learning led to a full tuition scholarship from Dr. George H. Opdyke, local philanthropist.

Bae Jae Kyu's quest for a college education started back in Taegu where he served as an interpreter for the Air Force shortly after the Korea war began. In his work he made friends with many of the U. S. officers and airmen and learned of America and its colleges.

Later he wrote to one of the airmen, A-2c John Wallace of Orlando, Fla., explaining his desire to study in America He told how he had worked hard and saved enough money to come to the United States but that now he needed a scholarship

Wallace sent the young Korean's letter to the Orlando Evening Star which printed the story. The newspaper account was noted by officials of Rollins College who sent it to Dr. Opdyke, who annually awards several scholarships to Rollins students

Although Opdyke became interested and agreed to help, there was much red tape to overcome.

First, Bae Jae Kyu needed permission of the South Korean government to attend and he had to pass U. S. specifications for admittance to this country. Then he had to get recommendations from friends and authorities and show a high enough academic standing to enter the college.

Finally permission for his entry was granted and letters of recommendation poured into the school from Bae Jae Kyu's Air Forceand Korean friends.

The Rollins registrar — after translating his transcript of high school credits from Korean—made his acceptance official.

The elated, Bible-quoting youth wrote that he plans to major in economics so he can "work for the peace of all mankind and build up my ravaged country on the strong, hard rock of democracy."

Giants Record Called Biggest Failure

Three Home Runs No Help As Bums Score 8-6 Win

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

For the experts one of the biggest disappointments of the 1953 baseball season has been the sad showing of the New York Giants.

The Giants, who won a host of new friends with their triumphant drive to the pennant in 1951, were picked as a solid third place entry with a good chance of nudging Philadelphia out of second. These judgments were given by men closely connected with the sport who watched the clubs during spring training

At their present rate the Giants are going to be lucky to finish as high as fifth. They are 28 games behind league-leading Brooklyn, only 4½ in front of sixth place Cincinnati, and deteriorating rapidly.

Right from the start they have not looked good. Their supporters brushed aside the weak beginning with the excuse that teams managed by Leo Durocher are slow starters more often than not. Echoes of the Giants' victory song, which blared from every corner two years ago, were being heard again in July when the club finaly edged into the first division. For two weeks the Giants were in fourth place more often than fifth.

But with August came the real breakdown. They have won only 13 games since Aug 1 and they've lost 27, dragging their overall average from a respectable .543 to a mediocre .478

Sal Maglie lost his touch, Monte Irvin was hurt, Hank Thompson was hurt, the pitching staff generally went to pieces. Al Worthington, a pitcher the Giants had been warned wasn't ready for the majors, was brought up from Minneapolis in July. He broke in sensationally with two shutouts. Now he's lost six straight.

Worthington started last night against the Dodgers. He wasn't charged with the 8-6 loss but only because the Giants managed to tie the contest twice and then kick it away after he had departed.

The New Yorkers committed four glaring errors which gave Brooklyn five unearned runs. The way they played in the field it was of no help to the Giants that they equalled a major league home run record by hitting three in a row in the fourth inning

The victory moved Brooklyn 10 games in front of the second place Milwaukee Braves, who bowed 4-1 to the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox played a 6-6 tie in 11 innings with rain halting play and the St. Louis Browns clubed the Detroit Tigers 14-6. Chicago's twilight-night twin bill at Cincinnati was washed out and the rest of the clubs weren't scheduled.

Stan Musial hit a three-run home run in the eighth inning to give the Cardinals their margin of victory over the Braves. Stu Miller allowed seven hits in scoring his seventhtriumph. Johnny Antonelli was the loser.

The Indians wiped out a 5-2 Chicago lead with four runs in the seventh but the White Sox tied it with a run in the eight. The game was halted with Cleveland at bat and two out in the 11th The clubs, tied for second in the standings, will play two games tonight to make up.

The Browns' victory over Detroit was their 13th this year. Altogether they've won only 47 A 10-run fifth inning during which Vic Wertz hit a grand slam home run made it easy for Don Larsen to win his fourth game. Larsen also homered.

Redlegs, Cubs Game Is Rained Out

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs complained not at all at last night's showers.

The water caused postponement of a twilight-night doubleheader with today's foes, the Chicago Cubs. But the rains brought a welcome relief from torrid temperatures

The games were rescheduled for Sept. 22

After a single game today and a doubleheader Sunday, the Redlegs travel to St. Louis for two Cardinal games Labor Day.

Kentucky Stables Take Fair Horse Show Titles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dodge Stables of Lexington, Ky., won the two top championships in the final horse show at the Ohio State Fair last night.

Wing Commander took the $2,000 five-gaited championship and Meadow Princess won the $2,000 three-gaited championship.

Kay Allen of Columbus, riding Donegal, won the $1,000 jumper stake in a tie-breaking jump-off with Mrs. Hubert R. Thomas, Indianapolis, on Velvet Lassie.

START SOFTBALL TOURNEY

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Amateur Softball Association's first annual "World Series" tournament gets underway tonight with slow-pitch squads from four states entered

The double-elimination competition ends Labor Day.

AIR SERVICE BEGINS

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) —Air service from Sandusky to Kelleys Island and Put-in-Bay started yesterday. The new schedules follow the recent purchase of Air Tours, Inc., of Port Clinton by Travelair Taxi Inc in which the president of Sandusky Airport, Inc., Ralph Dietrick, has an interest.

Death Claims Old Time Baseball Star

BLATIMORE (AP) — Charles L. (Buck) Herzog, storied baseball figure of yesteryear, died last night at Baltimore City Hospitals.

The 68-year-old former National League infielder was admitted to the hospital last January with advanced tuberculosis.

Herzog's colorful 30-year career in the major leagues included tours as player or manager with the New York Giants, Chicago Cubs, Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds.

Dane, Floridian May Gum Up Tennis Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Unless a big, mustachioed Dane and a 39-year-old pappy from Florida gum up the works, the Labor Day weekend in the National tennis championships should produce an interesting preview of the Davis Cup challenge round.

The Dane is Kurt Nielsen, who opposes top-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in one of the two remaining quarter-final matches today at the West Side Tennis Club. They last met in the Wimbledon final this summer and Seixas won in straight sets.

The Floridian is vitamin-gulping Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, who matches his tennis wizardry against one of Australia's 18-year-old whiz kids, Lewis Hoad.

Seixas and Hoad are favored. If they come through as anticipated, this is the intriguing lineup we'll have for Sunday's semi-finals:

Seixas vs. Hoad.

Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, vs Ken Rosewall, Australia

Rosewall and Hoad are the two teen-age youngsters on whom Australia is counting to keep the Davis Cup which was won and defended so well by Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, now pros.

Seixas and Trabert are Uncle Sam's picks to bring the big international trophy back when the United States and Australia clash next December in Melbourne. The United States must still take Canada in the American zone finals next week, but it's regarded as routine.

America's Amateur Golf Team Expects To Down Britishers

MARION, MASS. (AP)—Under the exacting eyes of America's greatest amateur golfer—the immortal Bobby Jones — his Walker Cup team successors seemed assured of wrapping up another victory over British golfers in their lopsided series of international conquests today on Kittansett's narrow course.

American tandems, in 36-hole alternate shot foursomes, piled up a 3-1 lead The homebreds need only an even break in today's eight singles matches—also at 36 holes—to gain their 13th triumph in the 14 team competitions played since 1922.

Lew Worsham Leads Tourney

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Lew Worsham can keep going the way he has of late, they'll have to carve a niche for him in golf's hall of fame right alongside the Joneses, Hagens and Hogans.

His round of 69 yesterday gave him a two-stroke lead in the National Celebrities Open.

Playing in his first tournament since his spectacular victory in the Tam O'Shanter championship event last month, Worsham had the big gallery applauding his textbook golf from start to finish.

Yesterday's round gave him a halfway mark of 137—7 under par

Bill Nary of Kansas City wound up in a three-way tie for second at 139 with veterans Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., and Ted Kroll, of New Hartford, N. Y.

Ohio Trotter Wins State Fair Purse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Veteran William (Doc) McMillen drove Prince Philip to victory in both heats of the $1,200 free-for-all trot at the state fair harness races yesterday.

Prince Philip's times were 2 05 3-5 and 2 04 2-5. He is owned by O C. Belt of Columbus, former chairman of the state racing commission.

McMillen also drove Miss Winsocki as she recorded the fastest time of the afternoon, 2 05 3-5, taking the second heat in the 19 pace Miss Winsocki had won the first heat Thursday, but rain cut short the program.

Rain washed out the final heat of the 30 pace and the last heat of the 30 trot yesterday.

Free Hockey Film Is Available for Use By Marion Groups

A movie on the fundamentals, rules and fouls of ice hockey is available for use by any service club or other group in or near Marion, Tony Hemmerling, general manager of the Marion Barons, announced today.

Running time for the movie is 20 minutes and includes scenes taken from championship games, he added. Hemmerling said also that he or some member of his staff will be happy to appear with the film to discuss the game further and answer questions. He may be contacted at the Coliseum or by telephoning 3-1212 to arrange for borrowing the film.

The Barons, Marion's entry in the International Hockey League, play their first game on a 190-foot long by 77-foot wide rink at the Coliseum on Oct. 11. The game is an exhibition with the Cleveland Barons, parent team of the local crew.

Brownies Spot Detroit 14, Tie Game 24-All

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—The Browns were getting ready today for a Monday night game with the Baltimore Colts in Akron, still reflecting that you can't spot the champion Detroit Lions 14 points and then win.

The Cleveland pro football club had been rated an 11-point underdog before last night's game in Detroit, and in the first half the Lions lived up to that estimate by scoring two early touchdowns.

But midway in the fourth quarter the Browns were ahead for the first time in the contest, and it looked like an upset. Then the Lions bounced back with the help of rookie Gene Gedman and the contest ended as a 24-24 tie.

Under Coach Buddy Parker, the Lions had taken four straight from the Browns — two exhibitions, a league game and last December's title game. So even a tie was a reversal.

The Browns had the statistics, gaining 454 yards to Detroit's 252. Otto Graham was in form, connecting for 25 passes in 41 attempts, and hitting Dante Lavelli for two touchdowns. But the Browns also failed to cash in on two bids for a score, and that hurt.

In the first two minutes of play the Lions went 84 yards in five plays to score, on a pass from Bobby Layne to Leon Hart.

Early in the second period the Browns missed fire on a scoring chance and Lou Groze tried a field goal from the 11. It was partly blocked and Yale Lary scooped it up and ran down the sidelines for 92 yards and a touchdown.

Once again, the Cleveland club missed an opportunity as a fourth-down try by Ken Carpenter ended on the four. But shortly before the half ended, a pair of Graham passes to Dub Jones and Marion Motley, a 23-yard smash through the middle by Motley and a couple of plunges by Chick Jagade produced the first touchdown for the Browns.

In the third period an 80-yard drive climaxed by one of Graham's passes to Lavelli and the score was tied. Pat Harder's field goal from the 40 put the Lions in front, but early in the final period Groza matched this with a 42-yarder.

Cleveland took the lead on an 80-yard drive which ended with another Graham-to-Lavelli pass, but the Lions' Bedman sparked the champs' final surge with two minutes to go.

15,000 Spectators Expected

Delaware Dam Speedboat Races Set for Tomorrow

Upward of 15,000 persons from throughout central Ohio are expected to converge on the Delaware Dam Reservoir tomorrow for the second annual Marlboro Boat Club speed boat races.

P. J. Savage of Marion, a trustee of the club, said that between 75 and 100 boats are expected to participate in the combined inboard and outboard race program.

Commodore George Shaw of Columbus also announced that a band concert played by the Delaware High School band will get the full day's events underway at 11 a.m.

Starting early in the afternoon there will be races in Class A, B, C and D for outboard hydroplanes and Class A, B and C outboard runabouts.

The inboard races will be all in the 136-cubic inch displacement class, according to Shaw.

A total of 10 races are planned, according to Savage. Loudspeakers will be installed and a running commentary on the various races will keep the spectators informed of the progress of the days events, he said.

The drivers, all amateurs but piloting their craft with a professional flair, will be competing for trophies only on the one-half mile course, Savage said.

Expected heavy traffic on Route 23 will be directed by State Highway Patrolmen The Delaware Sheriff's department and members of the boat club, he added.

There will also be concession stands located two on the west side and one on the east side of the reservior for spectators convenience.

The races are being held in the area near the Inskeeps Corners. To get to the area from Marion drive south on Route 23 to Inskeeps Corners three miles south of Norton. From this point signs will point the way to various parking areas near the racing course, Savage said. Those who arrive early will likely get the best parking locations for watching the events from their cars, he added.

Marion Speedway Races Tonight Star Novices, Old Hands

Several top drivers and a number of novices are entered in six stock car races scheduled at the Marion Speedway beginning at 8 30 tonight.

Sponsored by the Marion Stock Car Racing Association, the feature race will be a 25-lapper with figure eight and suicide events also included on the program.

Among the drivers who will race tonight are Bill Collier, Don Stevens, Glen McKnight, Ed Fridley, Dick Grice, Red Mathius, Bob Harris, Harry Fig and Raymond Fig.

The Fig brothers are new to stock car racing and Association officials say any driver wanting to get started in stock car racing will be allowed to enter tonight's races. Only restrictions will be that each car must have safety belts and roll bars, spokesmen said.

The Speedway is located five miles north of Marion just off Route 23.

Sox Nip Charleston To Hold Lead in AA

By The Associated Press

It's still Toledo in first place by a one game margin today as the hectic American Association baseball flag race goes into its stretch run.

The front-running Sox tripped last-place Charleston, 5-2 last night, while runnerup Louisville trounced St. Paul, 12-1. In the only other league games played Kansas City and Minneapolis split a doubleheader The Millers won the afternoon game 9-8, but the Blues retaliated by copping the night game, 5-4.

Indianapolis and Columbus were stopped by rain.

Chisox, Tribe Still Tied for Loop 2nd Place

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians will have to play two games tonight, because early this morning they were right where they started last night—tied for second place.

The Indians were at bat in the last of the 11th when the contest had to be called because the rain was too persistent. Early Wynn (16-10) and Bob Feller (7-6) will oppose Mike Fornieles (8-5) and Sandy Consuegra (7-3) in the twin bill starting at 7 p. m. EST.

Cleveland had a 6-5 lead when southpaw Bill Wight opened the eighth inning by walking Red Wilson Bob Lemon took over the mound duties and pinch hitter Ed Stewart sent Wilson to third by singling. Chico Carrasquel's single drove Wilson in with the tying run. It still was 6-6 when the rain halted everything.

The game had a see-saw pattern. The White Sox scored in the first on a long fly by rookie Bob Boyd, with the bases loaded Indian catcher Jim Hegan tied it up in the second with a homer over the left field fence.

In the third Boyd hit a three-run homer, and in the next inning three singles gave Cleveland a run. In the sixth a single by Wilson and a double by Carrasquel gave the White Sox a 5-2 lead, but in the seventh the Tribe poured through four runs to take the lead.

Dale Mitchell led off with a single, Al Rosen doubled, and so did pinch hitter Hank Majeski. Then Wally Westlake smacked a two-run homer.

"Second Chance," a romantic adventure story in 3-D technicolor and starring Robert Mitchum, Linda Darnell and Jack Palance, will be the attraction Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace Theater.

The picture is set against the Andes Mountains in South America, with Linda Darnell portraying a gangster's ex-girl friend who flees to South America to rehabilitate herself and to escape the vengeance of her jilted sweetheart. Robert Mitchum is seen as an American prizefighter who is in South America trying to find himself after having killed a man in the ring.

Each is seeking a second chance. When Mitchum befriends Miss Darnell, they find themselves united in an effort to escape professional killer Jack Palance, who is under orders to get rid of her before a U. S. Senate Crime Committee can return her to testify against the gangster.

Not until he is tricked into becoming a Scoutmaster for a Boy Scout troop does he really learn the workings of the young mind, much to his discomfort at times.

"The President's Lady" is a portrait about the most slandered couple in American history, Rachel and Andrew Jackson. The picture reveals the intimate story of their romance from the time they were married first in 1791 in the belief that Rachel's first husband, Lewis Robards, had divorced her, until Jackson's inauguration as President of the United States in 1829. They were re-married in Nashville in 1793 and until her death, three months before Jackson took office in Washington, Rachel was snubbed by society.

Billed for Thursday through Saturday, also a double feature, are a new technicolor musical, "Cruisin' Down the River" and "Conquest of Cochise."

These Days

By George Sokolsky

Government statistics report that for five months in succession the cost of living of the American people has risen. That used to be called the high cost of living. In fact, those who enjoy breaking everything down into initials referred to it as HCL.

SOKOLSKY

Actually, this means that the value of the dollar is moving in the direction of a 5-cent piece, about the equivalent of a ruble or a yen in 1514.

-:-

THAT MEANS that Americans have lost half of the private wealth accumulated prior to the present inflation. That means that insurance policies purchased with 100-cent dollars are now worth exactly half of what was paid for them.

That means that money put in savings banks, perhaps to accumulate for a child's education, is not of the same value as the actual savings. These losses are not likely to be made up; they may have gone with the wind.

If one has bought a house and it is in a desirable area and condition, it can be sold for more than the purchase price because prices have gone up while the value of money has gone down.

This is a form of self-kidding. You have more money in your pocket, but it is worth less.

This is something very difficult to explain to the thrifty.

For years, I have been trying to convince my wife, whose forebears were Welsh, that she ought to spend every dollar she can lay her hands on; that she should buy antiques, jewelry, anything that has some permanent value because money will have decreasing value.

-:-

TO HER, this means extravagance, shameless expenditure of dollars for unneeded things, and it offends her sense of propriety.

Some day she is going to get stuck with an accumulation of not worth-while dollars.

I, myself, waste dollars on my private luxuries like good cigars and excellent pipe tobacco. One might as well burn it up and enjoy the smoke as to watch it depreciate in value, which means that its purchasing power decreases as it remains idle.

How any of us are going to meet our taxes next March is a puzzle. Squeezed between the cost of living and high taxes, the economic middle class, the salaried people, those who earn their living by thinking and managing, is being wiped out.

-:-

IT IS NORMAL in periods of inflation for the white collar group, the salaried people, to suffer most. They can do little to protect themselves

We are becoming a nation with three economic classes:

1—Those who have inherited wealth and who protect themselves against inflation by speculation;

2—Those who manipulate and scheme and racketeer; they have replaced the entrepreneur of former years;

3—The remainder will be a proletariat, making ends meet if possible, generally somewhat in debt

This question of debt is again something that most of our people do not understand.

A mortgage is a debt; all installment buying is debt; a self-signed or a co-signed note is a debt; an item on a charge account is a debt.

-:-

THESE POSTPONED payments run high in most American families and become most burdensome when the principal earner dies. Then the inevitable has to be met, with the usual attendant minor tragedies.

From a national standpoint the realistic menace in this situation is the consumption of saved capital in immediate cost of living expenses.

This is hitting the upper middle-class, particularly in the group that still has children to educate and to rear in the manner to which they were accustomed before the inflation.

As long as they use their savings to meet their taxes, they can maintain their standards of living.

-:-

SOME OF THEM manage by manipulating their expense accounts. After the savings are sufficiently weakened, they have to lower their standards of living or sell whatever equities they have. May sell family businesses to pay a capital gains tax rather than an income tax.

This means that the reservoirs of private capital are slowly drying up The danger is that there will be less private capital for new enterprises.

The largest new enterprise in our times, the atomic energy industry, has been financed entirely out of taxes

It is something to think about because this may become, in time, the principal source of power, displacing coal and oil. It is socialistic by law.

Corn Withstands Drought but Grass Crops Badly Hurt

While grass crops were damaged fairly extensively in Marion Couny by the latest heat wave, corn was little harmed by the dry weather. A. H. Smith of the Agricultural Extension Service said today.

He added that grasses were almost completely burned out in most parts of the county. He said the damage to that crop was too great for the rain Thursday night to do any good.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The shaggy little man, Sam Gompers, who started this thing called Labor some 70 years ago while hustling about in his grayed bedroom slippers because neither he nor the old labor movement had the price of a pair of shoes, would hardly recognize the place if he dropped in this Labor Day.

RIESEL

The movement he started at a $10-a-week salary — when they had it — the unions he coddled in the days when his desk was a crate in an abandoned shack, are 16,500,000 strong today. Their assers are estimated by some at three billion dollars. They operate mines, hotels, night clubs, a yacht or two, and at least one has $11 million invested "in Wall Street" and once considered buying a seat on the Stock Exchange.

Unlike labor abroad, America's unions are "capitalist" unions. They have no nationwide party of their own — and presidents woo their millions in money and manpower.

SINCE THE MOST powerful of all labor men would be one of the handful of Americans who will really affect the nation's policies, this Labor Day weekend is the moment to conjecture: Just who is the most powerful man inside labor today?

There is the aging John Lewis; the whirlwindish, mercury-tongued young Walter Reuther; that husky juggernaut, the new AFL president Geroge Meany, and a stocky, blue-eyed fellow by name of Dave Beck, who has come out of the west to build the giant Teamsters Brotherhood which controls everything that rolls on wheels over these United States.

As the single most powerful labor leader today, and therefore the man to examine closely, this column picks Dave Beck His union of 1,179,901 gives him that power.

The Teamsters Brotherhood can make or break any strike. It can paralyze any industrial area. It can destroy any industry — or make it the smoothest, most efficient business in a community.

-:-

IN THE TEAMSTERS' collective hands is the health of a city, its sanitation, its food supply.

The man who heads this brotherhood certainly has power — and problems. For trucking has been the target for every shakedown artist, every muscleman — every modern highwayman.

How then is Dave Beck using that power? Is he bucking the mobs? What does he think? That's vital to America and every family in it

One thing is certain — Beck is cleaning out the trucking jungle.

No longer will he tolerate regional empires inside the Teamsters International.

He served notice on the giant organization that it will recognize contracts, maintain discipline and respect industry's rights, when he told two tough New York teamsters leaders to end their feud which had paralyzed $600 million worth of construction and kept the city looking like a front line, trench-filled community with its pipes exposed for 55 days.

-:-

NO TEAMSTERS International president had ever dared to go into New York. Now notice is served on all — from the behemoth town to the West Coast.

What does Beck say about this short of discipline"

"Both labor and management have a job of internal education. Labor must educate its members to the value of supporting the industry in which they make a living.

The problems must be spelled out and clear-cut answers given.

Industry, likewise, must do a job of education within its own ranks —and this education should include some measure of appreciation of the role of the worker in industry . . .

"Both labor and management have an external job to do in carrying their story to the public . . . In the weeks and months ahead, cooperation will be the keynote for our success. In working together, industry and labor will recognize the role of each . . ."

-:-

LAST JULY he told his own people that they will fight for higher wages, but "At the same time their employers are entitled to an honest day's work for wages paid. This means that everyone in our organization has to produce—everyone"

For the local teamsters leaders, he had this warning.

"We have not time for the officials who forgets his responsibilities to the people he serves and to his union. We are making changes and will make others . . ."

If these words of a strong man are heeded, then those of us who alarm easily over concentrated power can rest a little easier. And Labor Days of the future will take on the dignity they deserve.

That was the general pattern of the weather throughout areas getting relief from the blistering heat There was every indication the eastern hot belt was in line for the same treatment from the elements

Upstate N. Y. Still Hot

Upstate New York had another day of record heat yesterday with readings edging close to 100 in many cities. The 97.1 in Syracuse broke the all-time September mark of 97 set in 1931. Rochester's 97 was record for the date as was Buffalo's 93 It also was 97 in Utica and 95 in Albany. New York City's high was 85.

For the first time in 11 days the mercury failed to reach 90 in Newark, N. J. But there was little relief with temperatures of 87 and humidity of 61 per cent A break in the hot spell was expected in New Jersey around noon today.

Hot In Capital

Washington reported another day of above 90 and it was a warm 78 during the night However, showers and cooler weather were on the way for the nation's capital.

Generally fair weather, with no rain, prevailed west of the Mississippi Valley except for showers in East Texas and in northern Minnesota and nearby areas. There was some warming in the northern Rockies after a couple of days of cool weather. The 71 at Great Falls, Mont., compared to 44 on Thursday.

the announced intention of the Eisenhower administration to discourage government competition with private business. If the policy is allowed to stand, there will be a mass uprising against the Republican party and the mothers of boys going into the service will lead it."

In Cleveland, William W. Mitchell, executive secretary of the National Alcoholic Beverage Control Associations, said the loss in revenue to states will be considerable and that some liquor dealers will be driven out of business.

However, a spokesman for the Distilled Spirits Institute, a distillers' association, said "There should be no unnecessary discrimination against members of the armed services," and expressed confidence that "No looseness will be tolerated in the handling of these beverages."

Senator's Comment

Sen. Hill (D-Ala) said in an interview:

"I will certainly ask a full and complete report from the secretary of the Army on the new regulations and their effect when Congress convenes"

Rep. Rees (R-Kan), an avowed dry and chairman of the House Civil Service Committee, in a separate interview said he was "surprised and disappointed" and that the new policy would "not be a morale builder or a morals builder."

Foreign Coins Present Parking Meter Problem

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP) — H. L. Hughes thinks collecting foreign coins is a "downright problem" but he can't stop

The collection he holds as city comptroller contains 165 pieces representing 35 different nations which motorists have jammed into parking meters here

"They are probably souvenirs that someone would like to keep but placed in the meter by mistake," Hughes said.

He pointed out that most coins run higher than the meter price but that does not help much in getting rid of them He said a bank has offered to buy them at half price, but he has not decided what to do.

Ike Grants Iran Emergency Aid Of $45 Million

U.S. Moves To Avert New Regime Joining In Pact With Russia

DENVER (AP)—President Eisendent Eisenhower today granted the new government of Iran 45 million dollars in emergency economic aid in an obvious move to prevent any Iranian alignment with Russia.

The President acted just 10 days after Prime Minister Fazolah Zahedi appealed to him for swift assistance, saying Iran's treasury was empty and that money was needed urgently to enable the country "to emerge from a state of economic and financial chaos."

Last Tuesday Eisenhower made public a reply assuring Zahedi the United States would give "sympathetic consideration" to his appeal.

Today the summer White House issued this statement:

"In response to a request for urgent assistance from the new government of Iran, the President has made available on an emergency basis 45 million dollars which will be used for the immediate economic assistance of Iran in accordance with the procedures of the Foreign Operations Administration under the Mutual Security Act.

"This amount is in addition to existing United States technical assistance and military programs in Iran.

"There is great need for immediate assistance to restore a measure of stability and establish a foundation for greater economic development and improvement in the living standards for all the people of Iran

"It is hoped that, with our assistance, there will be an increase in the internal stability of Iran which will allow the development of a healthy economy to which an early effective use of Iran's rich resources will contribute."

That was a clear reference to Iranian oil and the dispute with Great Britain which has shut off the supply, despite U.S. efforts to help arrange a settlement.

Shortly after Iranian royalists overthrew the government of Prime Minister Mossadegh Aug. 17 and returned Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi to power, the Shah said Iran was broke, had to have immediate financial aid and was willing to accept it from any country, including Russia.

A few days later Zahedi appealed to Eisenhower for aid. The promptness with which the President responded underscored the importance this country attaches to keeping Iran and its rich oil deposits out of the Soviet orbit.

Faulty Readings Given By Many Speedometers

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Seeing isn't necessarily believing when it comes to automobile speedometers.

Samuel T. Milliken, service manager of the Keystone Automobile Club, said a recent test by the U. S Bureau of Public Roads revealed that two out of three speedometers were faulty.

"Of the 53 cars tested, only 19 had speedometer readings which generally were correct," he said. Some showed higher speeds than the vehicles were actually traveling while most showed lower speeds.

"The implications are obvious," Milliken said. "If a car's speedometer is off, the operator may be arrested for speeding when he honestly believes he is driving at a legal rate And ignorance of the fact that his speedometer is faulty does not excuse him."

Milliken suggested motorists have their speedometers checked regularly and frequently "to insure peace of mind and legal speeds."

WITH THE HELP OF

PROFITS FROM HIS

NEWSPAPER ROUTE

TODAY, many enterprising young Americans — former Newspaperboys, like the typical college man above — are using part of the earnings from their routes as a future college fund. To these young merchants the money saved from route profits often means the difference between ordinary schooling and the specialized training needed for success in the career they choose.

Yet what they LEARN as Newspaperboys is just as valuable as what they EARN. The practical training in sales and service, collecting, record keeping, as well as the habits of punctuality, reliability and thrift all add up to a foundation for success in manhood. In addition to a college fund, they have extra money for clothes, sports, school and hobbies.

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Any one who has labored over the lawn and grounds about his house is familiar with those irritating "bare spots" For some unaccountable reason there seem to be certain places in a lawn which just will not grow grass Owners have dug up raked fertilized and reseeded these annoying patches for one reason after another without ever getting decent results Usually we find these where there are heavy roots under the ground where there is a clay pocket, where rain keeps washing away the topsoil or where there is too much foot traffic

Experience with these bare spots indicates that the best treatment is to cover them with something that will stand any kind of abuse or conditions, come what may There are two things that looks good in the corner of a lawn along a road in front of flower beds or almost anywhere else The first is flagstone or slate and the second is common brick Both of these materials seem very appropriate in a lawn and they are extremely easy to handle,

A persistent bare spot can be covered and made very presentable by taking out about an inch of the lawn surface and setting flat flags or slate in random shape and then filling the two-inch space between with the loose dirt The ground should be raked smooth at first to insure an even surface A light tamping of the flags is all that is needed as they rapidly weather down and become quite firm under foot A brick job is done in the same manner with the exception that the brick is laid in more regular pattern and with only half-inch joints between them

As a rule these small deviations from an unbroken grass surface are quite interesting and add rather than detract from the appearance of a well-kept place

For Finer Refinishing

Do-It-Yourselfers Doing Better Work Than Pros

Many home craftsmen are doing finer work in furniture finishing than some professionals, who can't afford to invest the time and the pains and still stay in business. The most intricate techniques are now studied and developed in the amateur's modern home workshops.

Yet, it is surprising how few handy men understand the advantages of wet sanding. Apparently they have not watched automobile body workers develop perfect surfaces and high finishes by using soapy water in their between-coat abrasive work.

This type of sanding with the new waterproof production papers was recently referred to in this series. Mention was made of lubricating oil used on varnished wood surfaces for wet sanding, with soap and water recommended for rubbing down finishes on metal.

This got a rise out of J.F.R. of Washington, D. C.

"Heaven help the metalsmith who puts soapy water on metal when sanding," he wrote, "and woe to the poor woodworker who uses lubricating oil when sanding wood —I can just see all the housewives this morning with a can of lubricating oil in one hand and waterproof sandpapers in the other, trying to take out cigaret burns and scratches."

Expert Quoted

Well, you don't have to take this reporter's word for it. We'll quote an expert—Rog Nestande of the technical department of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing—a company that makes the near-diamond hard crystals used on abrasives.

"Evidently critic J.F.R. has never been in an auto repair shop where quantities of water and waterproof sandpaper are used for finish sanding on all parts of the auto body." Nestande observes. "It would be erronious, however, to wet sand on bare metal—where, just as in the case with wood, the sanding would be done dry with no need for a lubricating medium. Waterproof producaion paper is used with soapy water, lubricant when sanding the finish, or in-between coats on metal."

Here is how wet sanding comes in for removing a cigaret burn or small scratch on a fine table top:

"If the damage is too large or too deep, the entire surface should be refinished. But for a small burn or small scratch, the area can be sanded dry with "very fine" production paper. This sanding is done very lightly, over only the area of the blemish, and is continued until the mar is removed.

Stain Sanded Area

The sanded area is then stained to match the original finish. When the stain is dry, a medium-heavy coat of sealer is applied. This is allowed to dry for at least 4 hours. Then the area is dry sanded again with "very fine" grade paper on a rubber sanding block to level the sealer.

You are now ready for the top coat. Since it is very difficult to blend a damaged area perfectly with the surrounding surface, it is usually best to re-coat the whole surface with varnish or lacquer. When this has tried, wet sanding begins.

Light lubricating oil is used for this process with grade "superfine" black waterproof sandpaper on a rubber block. This wet sanding will produce a perfectly level and satin-like finish.

If you want a high lustre, rub the entire surface with rotten stone and oil until you get the luster you desire. The surface is then cleaned with a furniture polish and cleaner.

TOOLING the neat grooves in the mortar of brickwork calls for a device known as a pointing tool. A good one can be made with an old file handle and a piece of metal tubing about 6 inches long. Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Damp Spots on Plaster Wall

Q.: I have a wood-burning fireplace in my living room and the wall over the fireplace is of brick. When plastering was done on this house, the plaster was put on directly over the brick. This is an outside chimney with two flues, one for the fireplace and the other for the furnace. Damp spots appear on this wall and paint peels off. What can I do with this?

A.: Evidently there are times when the brick in the chimney is cold and the air in the house warm and humid. A condition of this kind would cause condensation (sweating) to form on the plaster. The only remedy is to fur out the wall to create an air space and then place lath and plaster or gypsum wallboard (plasterboard) over the furring strips. I assume that there is no leakage in the chimney.

Furniture Appears Cloudy

Q.: I bought some nice furniture at an auction. The varnished finish is smooth and unbroken, but has a cloudy appearance. How can I restore its luster?

A.: First, try rubbing with a cloth wrung out in a solution of one quart of water and a tablespoon of cider vinegar. Rub with the grain of the wood and wipe off with soft, dry cloths. If this treatment doesn't suffice, the cloudy appearance has probably worked its way through the finish. In this case, the only answer is to remove the finish and refinish the furniture from bare wood. Use prepared varnish remover, following directions.

Rust Spots in Wash Basin

Q.: The area around the drain in my porcelain wash basin has yellowish, rusty-colored spots which I can't seem to get out, although I have scrubbed them with a nail brush and strong soap. Have you anything to suggest?

A.: Thoroughly dampen a cloth in peroxide, spread on some cream of tartar, and over this sprinkle scouring powder. Rub this mixture well into the spots, and let it remain for half an hour. Then wash it off with clear hot water. It may be necessary to repeat the treatment.

Painting Over Cracked Enamel

Q.: The enamel on my bathroom walls has developed many fine cracks, running every which way. Is it possible or practical to put on another coat to cover the cracks?

A.: It is perfectly possible. First, however, you should rub the walls with fairly coarse sandpaper, to eliminate the maze of cracks. Follow this by rubbing with "000" sandpaper to give a smooth surface. Then wipe off all dust and apply the new enamel according to manufacturer's directions.

Troubled by Blown Fuses? New Types Can Take Overload

Installation and increased use of time delay fuses and automatic circuit breakers will eliminate many fuse blowings in American homes

The new devices absorb a temporary overload for a short time. This ends the blowing of fuses by the starting of an electric motor on a line operating at capacity or near capacity.

Most fuses in American homes are blown when a motor or electric appliance is just started. This is due to the fact that starting such a motor often requires three or five times the normal operating current

This higher drain on the current can be taken by the new devices Cheaper of the two are the time delay fuses They may be installed in place of the standard fuse and need no special equipment

Automatic circuit breakers cost more to install but have the advantage of never burning out and requiring replacement

Underwriters Laboatories have placed their stamp of approval on the new type fuses as well as the circuit breakers.

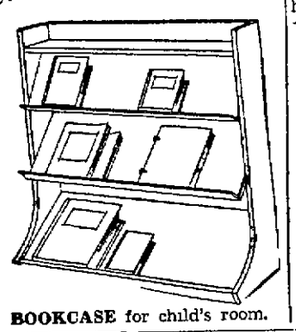
Child's Room Bookcase Easily Constructed in Home Workshop

An attractive bookcase for a child's use can be made with three slanting shelves to hold either books or magazines flat for easy view and interesting display. On top is a conventional shelf for smaller books which can stand in the usual way.



BOOKCASE for child's room.

Just three feet high and three feet wide, this convenient piece can be readily built in the home workshop. The sides are white pine, cut from a 12-inch board to curve in from the lower shelf, then ripped to a width of 6 inches from the top to the middle shelves. The top shelf is a white pine board 6 inches wide

The back is a panel of hardboard, preferrably ⅛-inch tempered pressed wood for strength, and the same material is used for the shelves Each slanting shelf is made by fastening the hardboard to a framework of 1 x 2-inch lumber

The second shelf is fastened to the ends with screws so that it has a slant of 65 degrees. The third shelf, similarly attached, has a slant of 55 degrees The lower shelf, widest for the largest books and magazines, is slanted at 45 degrees

A strip of 2x2 lumber will form a lip for the bottom shelf and also support a child when he stands on it to reach for a book above Lips on center and top slanting shelves can be strips of lattice lumber

Fair Receipts Tallied, May 'Break Even'

Ohio's Biggest State Exposition Attended By Record 840,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The big steel gates clanged shut.

The last boy with cotton candy on his face had gone.

The darts game and the milk-bottle game had already started packing to move to the next fair.

The livestock barns were empty.

Fair officials settled down to tote up the score of the fair that has been touted as the biggest and best in Ohio's history.

They estimated attendance at the sesquicentennial fair at 480,000—largest of any state fair Ohio has had. Next largest was the 1952 fair, with 469,000. However, Supt. of Gates Guy J. Snider said the number of paid admissions was certain to run about 8,000 fewer than for last year.

The difference between paid admissions and the total is made up primarily by children, who are admitted free.

The latest official count of paid attendance was 279,850 through Thursday night, with an estimated 8,500 more for yesterday. Total paid attendance for 1952 was 296,400.

Financially, the 1953 fair was ahead of 1952. By last night, receipts stood at approximately $246,346, compared with $244,254 in 1952.

Fair officials are stilling holding open their books for the final figures from "The 17th Star," the sesquicentennial pageant, which continues through Monday night. The remaining performances of the "symphonic drama"—rained out last night—will add to fair receipts.

There was some question, however, whether the fair would make a profit. State Agriculture Director Howard S. Foust, fair director, said it was his "strong hope" the fair would at least "break even." The last two years the fair made money for the first times in its long history.

Bethlehem Steel Plant Walkout Idles 4,200

LACKAWANNA, N. Y. (AP) — An estimated 4,200 of the 16,000 employes in the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s sprawling Lackawanna plant were idle today as a result of walkouts in the coke oven and blast furnace departments.

The walkouts began Monday when about 200 coke oven workers left their jobs in protest of what the CIO United Steelworkers Union called the elimination of one of three coke oven crews.

Blast furnace employes and electricians joined the walkout gradually until about 1,000 were idle by yesterday.

Four Drivers Arrested By State Highway Patrol

Four persons arrested Friday by state highway patrolmen were Boyd Tolliver, 23, of Cleveland, Ralph Pitkin, 50, of Elyria, Arthur Plantz, 40, of Prospect, and Clinard Bevins, 34, of Phyllis, Ky.

Tolliver, arrested on Route 42 for unsafe operation, was fined $20 and costs by Mayor Healea of Cardington. Pitkin was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Bennington of Mt. Gilead on charges of passing on a yellow line on Route 42.

Plantz and Bevins were cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court on Wednesday. Plantz is charged with passing on a yellow line on Route 23, while Bevins is charged with driving left of center on Route 23.

Flynn said: "While dancing I must have thrown something out of place."

Idaho's Hills Still Lure Prospectors

MOSCOW, Ida. (UP) — The famed Idaho hills of gold rush days still hold interest for part-time prospectors, according to A. W. Fahrenwald, dean of the University of Idaho's College of Mines and director of the Bureau of Mines and Geology.

"We have received between 700 and 800 mineral samples every year since the depression," Fahrenwald reported. "Although the number remains about the same, the kinds of samples and the questions asked about them vary from year to year."

In the depression men hunted gold until they could find jobs. Strategic metals were the goal of the mineral-hunters during World War II. Today the $10,000 bonus offered by the Atomic Energy Commission for uranium discoveries lures prospectors. Gold and silver are virtually forgotten.

Newly discovered deposits of kyanite, a high-grade silicate used in the manufacture of porcelain for sparkplugs, and monazite in rock form also attract today's prospectors.

Expert Says Blacktop Roads Need Extra Care

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP) — Improper care of new blacktop roads leads to "slippery when wet" signs, says a scholarly highway engineer.

Prof. Ben H. Petty of Purdue University told highway superintendents meeting at Cornell University that extra care should be taken of new roads for the first two years after construction. He said summer heat is likely to "bleed" blacktop surfaces and those spots should be quickly covered with finely crushed stone.
